With Git: Clone the repository to the Sublime Text directory: Packages: git clone CodeFormatter The Packages directory is located in: OS X: ST2: ~/Library/Application Support/Sublime Text 2/Packages/ ST3: ~/Library/Application Support/Sublime Text 3/Packages/ Linux: ST2: ~/.config/sublime-text-2/Packages/ ST3: ~/.config/sublime-text-3/Packages/ Windows: ST2: %APPDATA%/Sublime Text 2/Packages/ ST3: %APPDATA%/Sub lime Text 3/Packages/ Configuration To change the default settings, you must update the CodeFormatter – User Preferences file. The advantage of using this method is that Package Control will automatically keep CodeFormatter updated with the latest version. Be sure to adjust all the settings into a single root object. : (If you like the software, don’t forget to donate for further development of it! Installation with the Package Control plugin: The easiest way to install CodeFormatter is through Package Control, which can be found at this site: Once Package Control is installed, restart Sublime Text and open the Command Palette (Command+Shift+P on OS X, Control+Shift+P on OS X, Control+Shift+P on OS X. Linux/Windows). f () “e4x”: false, // Pass the xml literals of E4X through “jslint_happy” without touching: false, // if true, jslint-stricter mode is applied. If it is empty, use the Â Â Â
